Airport hosts free jazz event September 9

INDIANAPOLIS—Want to show your support for the 2010 Indianapolis Jazz Festival? Head to the airport for free, pre-festival music in Civic Plaza!

Jazz fans of all ages are invited to attend INDy Jazz—an airport event to showcase local musicians from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday, September 9. Parking will be validated for those who register for one of several prizes.

Performers will include Cathy Morris (who will also emcee the event), as well as Cynthia Lane, Jan Aldridge Clark, Rob Dixon, Zach Lapidus, and others. A total of 16 musicians will play every 30 minutes and the evening will end with one great jam session.

In addition, popular local radio personality Tony Lamont from WTLC-FM 106.7 will host a live broadcast from the airport and help emcee the event.

While you are at the airport, don't forget to:

- Register to win two VIP passes for the Indianapolis Jazz Festival at Optimist Park in Broad Ripple on Saturday, September 18.
- Register to win one of 12 free tickets and CDs.
- Enjoy a glass of wine or other beverage at Vinea, fresh sushi from Naked Tchopstix, a burger at the Indy500 Grill, a salad from Café Patachou, and other food and beverage choices.

Parking is free for those who register to win. See an attendant at the registration table for parking validation information.

Mark your calendars now for September 9 and join us for INDy Jazz in Civic Plaza. See you there!
