Super lineup to entertain visitors at IND

INDIANAPOLIS – Many Super Bowl preparations at the Indianapolis International Airport (IND) were invisible to guests, occurring behind the scenes as the airport implemented additional resources to help ensure safe and reliable operations for visitors. But they also focused intensely on creating an enhanced customer experience for the tens of thousands of additional passengers who will pass through the airport during Super Bowl week.

The results of these very visible efforts include Host Committee and IND volunteers who will be on hand to help with directions and other information; additional retail choices and special Super Bowl signage; Super Cars; and the following lineup of super entertainment, which will be onstage at the back of Civic Plaza during the week’s peak travel days:

As always, there will be ample food-and-beverage choices among the many restaurants in Civic Plaza.

Serving as the heart of the airport terminal, Civic Plaza is also a destination in its own right. It offers shopping, dining and special entertainment events, with artwork and attractions that reflect the character and diversity of Indianapolis and the region.
